CEAM Association Member of the Year
Charles Nolan, PE

Experience and Education

Charles Nolan currently serves as the Director of Engineering for Greenman-Pedersen, Inc.'s Maryland branch located in Annapolis Junction. After receiving his Bachelor's and Master's degrees in Civil Engineering from the University of Maryland, Charles joined Whitman, Requardt & Associates in their Structural section working on general structure and bridge projects around the Baltimore area. He then moved on to work with RTKL in downtown Baltimore where he supported their work in the hospital and retail building markets. Charles moved back into the bridge and highway field when he joined Progressive Engineering Consultants, Inc. in their then newly opened Baltimore office. After a few years with PEC, Charles and his brother, John, started their own firm, Nolan Associates, Inc., where Charles served as President for 25 years before joining with GPI in 2013. Over the years, Charles has focused his career in the State of Maryland working on projects for the State and many of the local jurisdictions throughout the State.

Memberships

Charles has been a long time member of CEAM, serving on the board for 2 separate terms as an Associate Member Director, completing his most recent term this past July. He has thoroughly enjoyed being a member of CEAM and credits CEAM for allowing him to develop many life-long friendships with others in his professions.

Highlights

- Charles is married to Jeanne and they will celebrate their 32nd anniversary this October.
- He is the proud father of four (4) children, Laura, Patrick, Daniel and Lindsey.
- Although not yet technically a grandfather, he does claim to have three (3) grand 'dogs' and two (2) grand "horses".
